For a heritage haven in the Cotswolds, open the heavy arch door to Scudamore Court and make yourself at home in the magnificent 14th century abode nestled in ornate gardens. This Grade II listed manor house harks back to medieval times with details including a minstrels gallery, a 17th century oak staircase, open truss work, and original fireplaces and paneling. Six individually styled bedrooms inhabit the East and West Wing of the exquisite hall house, and reception rooms include a library-cum-drawing room, a sunny conservatory, a grand dining hall and the colossal lounge with its minstrel gallery and roaring log fire.

Chandeliers are slung from the open beam ceilings and intricate stonework frames the windows, but where history meets modern day expectations, contemporary features subtly adorn the spacious rooms. A stylish kitchen boasts an abundance of mod cons, fine linens are draped on antique beds and there's even a mini gym for fitness fanatics.

Whilst guests are invited to hunker down in the lavish interior, some of the finest sights are to be appreciated outside. From the acre of formal gardens not only do you get to ogle the period architecture, but there are also lush surroundings to be explored and enjoyed. Pad across lawn terraces and follow the pathway alongside lavender borders, wander beneath rose-covered archways or just relax by the pond. The Provence-style courtyard is ideal for alfresco dining – light the barbecue or indulge in the master class of a private chef including ex-Ivy chef Dean Carr.

Like the rest of the Unique Home Stay's collection, it's not only heritage and luxury that mean Scudamore Court makes the grade: the location is also part of its pulling power. Easily accessible within just a couple of hours from London, there's Salisbury Plain and the Wylde Valley on the doorstep for walking, and it's just a short drive to Bath for a dip in the Thermae Bath Spa and a spot of shopping.

Sleeping groups of between 6 and 12 guests, Scudamore Court is available for exclusive hire year round: www.scudamorecourt.uniquehomestays.com. For the entire Unique Home Stays collection visit: www.uniquehomestays.com or telephone: 01637 881942 for more information.
